

Chief of Police – City of Saskatoon

Saskatoon is seeking a highly communicative, empowering and innovative leader for its Chief of Police position.

The Saskatoon Board of Police Commissioners invites applications from police service leaders who have a proven ability to motivate a police service, to engender trust between the Police Service and the residents of the city, and to communicate effectively with the many components of a community.

The successful candidate will have a strong record of police service career progression, combined with exceptional communication and relationship building skills, and accompanied by proven values such as integrity, fairness, openness and accountability.

Saskatoon's next Chief of Police will have a thorough understanding of, and experience with, police service organizational systems, information management, human resources, labour issues and the full range of law enforcement operations. Additionally, the Chief will have strong financial management and budgeting skills.

The Chief of Police is responsible for the management, administration and operation of the Police Service, the maintenance of law and order in the municipality, and the maintenance of discipline within the Police Service, subject to the general direction of the Saskatoon Board of Police Commissioners and the provisions of The Police Act, 1990, and its regulations.
